Bold. New. Platinum.

Rabbi Dan Selsberg

When I arrived in Hamilton, almost nine years ago, there was a long list of things I wanted to accomplish. I wanted to help the community revitalize the shul. To make services more engaging. To give sermons and classes that were relevant and engaging. To help refresh the building and the spaces we use in it. Over the years, we've had a pretty good record. But one goal remains elusive: ensuring that Beth Jacob Synagogue is on firm financial footing. Which is why, just in time for Purim, I would like to announce our new strategy.

Beth Jacob has many loyal members who have steadfastly supported our shul through good times and bad. It is your generous funding of our programming that educates our youth, allows the Torah to be read, connects us with God, our ancestors, and our tradition, helps build support for Israel, keeps the lights on, and keeps this venerable institution running smoothly. But times are changing. A simple membership may no longer be enough. Which is why I'm proud to announce Beth Jacob Platinum™ memberships.

Just like a platinum credit card offers greater benefits and rewards, just like a platinum frequent flyer program offers access to plush lounges and shorter waiting times, Beth Jacob Platinum™ memberships provide the ultimate Beth Jacob experience. Sure, it costs a bit more, but look what you get. With Beth Jacob Platinum™:

Platinum members get access to the new UltraShulLounge™, a new space filled with luxurious sofas and chairs, flat-screen TVs tuned in to news outlets approved by CIJA, and a safe spot where the rabbi won't glare at you for checking your phone on Shabbat.

Platinum members are allowed to add as many names of loved ones as they want to the Mi'sh'beirakh list, and are no longer limited by the (new) maximum of three names of ailing individuals that come with the Beth Jacob Classic™ membership.

Platinum members are given 12 HonourCards™ per year, which can be used either to procure an aliyah, ark opening, or similar honour at anytime throughout the year, or they may be used to decline an honour when one is offered. (High Holiday honours cost three HonourCards™, both for those who wish to procure an honour or for those who are desperate to refuse one.)

Platinum members are given access to sermons and divrei Torah that are 25 per cent less guilt-inducing than those given to Beth Jacob Classic™ members.

Platinum members can audibly sigh and check their watches during shul without being thought rude.

When Beth Jacob Classic™ members get egg salad at Shabbat kiddush, Beth Jacob Platinum™ members get ... you know it. Lox.

And when everyone else gets a bagel with Costco brand cream cheese, or something like that? Platinum members get Philadelphia. Oh yeah.

Platinum members are guaranteed that The Holy One of Blessing will look with favour at all of their worthy deeds and aspirations. (Note: this last benefit is still a work in progress. We have made the request of the appropriate Authority, and, at press time, are still awaiting written confirmation.)

These benefits and more are now available to those who wish to step up their support of our shul by becoming Platinum members, which entails merely a nominal phenomenal increase in your dues. And for those who may aspire to such support, but are unable to move beyond the Beth Jacob Classic™ membership level, don't worry. You will still enjoy the same high level of service, the same devotion to Am Yisrael, and the same Costco cream cheese that you've always loved at Beth Jacob. Only now, there will be, you know, an obvious superiority-inferiority thing going on. But I'm sure it'll be OK. Right?

I hope many of you will think seriously about becoming Platinum members. It is a bold new step in synagogue fundraising and in sowing divisiveness in congregations. I look forward to hearing about how much you love the UltraShulLounge™— I have to rely on you, because I can't afford to get in.

Many blessings for a wonderful Purim— but more blessings for you-know-who.

LAST CHANCE LEARNING

3 CLASSES

Each Focusing on a Different Classic Text That We Can Learn Together For The First... and Last Time

Come join Rabbi Selsberg for three classes on three different themes that we have not yet discussed together. As we prepare for receiving Torah on Shavuot, we'll explore some foundational texts.

Wednesday Nights at 6:30 p.m. May 6, 13, & 20 at Beth Jacob

When the month of Adar enters, we increase in joy – Talmud Taanit 29a

Cindy Richter

Do you already have a musical Pharrell-style HAPPY! beating from your head down to your toes? In Adar, the month in which we celebrate Purim, we are commanded to be even more cheerful, merry and freylach.

For the other months of the Jewish calendar, it's also permissible to feel joyful too. At Beth Jacob, we don't need a holiday to spread happy-itis. But, beware! There's more than one variety of this disposition.

You may be happy if :

- You have honoured someone's yahrzeit or helped another person honour theirs.
- You have found some part of the community where you are making a difference.
- You have reached out to be known or welcomed someone who might want to know you.
- You witness others being happy!

Check out our religious school and family program. Rina stirs up energy, optimism and action!

- You are swept into the peaceful realm of Kabbalat Shabbat from Cantor Eyal's first musical note.
- You make a Tuesday Out of the Cold commitment. Your happiness naturally spills into the food you are preparing, flavouring it with the Jewish taam only you can provide.
- You are one of the new voices delivering a d'var torah! We are a congregation of talented, intellectual, well-travelled, learned and insightful members with medical, business, educational and life experience. If you have something to share, we are happy, eager sponges ready to listen and learn.

- You are creating electricity on the energy/house committee!
- You are interviewing the impressive rabbinical candidates who are showing us the purpose and fulfillment associated with the Conservative/Masorti Movement!

When you enter your home, Beth Jacob, be open to something unexpectedly positive and good happening here. Walk in with a sense of curiosity and receptivity which are exactly the elements that increase the likelihood of developing something truly happy.

Chag Purim Sameach!

A word from THE CANTOR

Cantor Eyal Bitton

On Friday, February 27, 2015, Leonard Nimoy, known to most of us as Mr. Spock from Star Trek, passed away. Nimoy, as Spock, was beloved.

He captured our imagination. He was a symbolic pioneer. After all, he was the first alien to work alongside humans - on board the starship USS Enterprise.

There's a desire we humans have to know that we are not alone in this universe. For some, it's a desire to know that there are aliens out there. For others, it's a desire to know that there is a God out there. And for yet others, it's both.

Can we connect to an experience that extends beyond the human one? Can we, in so doing, be made to feel humble? For knowing we are not alone would render us humbled by the knowledge that we are not the centre of the universe.

Gene Roddenberry, creator of Star Trek, tapped into these questions when he created the character of Mr. Spock. And Leonard Nimoy brought this character to life - and added so very much.

Many Jews know the story of the Vulcan greeting, Spock's famous hand gesture accompanied by the phrase, "Live long and prosper." Leonard Nimoy appropriated the gesture from the traditional Jewish priestly blessing which he witnessed in synagogue as a young boy.

During the synagogue service, the kohanim, descendants of the Temple priests, shroud themselves in the prayer shawl and bless the congregation. Members of the community are not permitted to look at them - because they represent the presence of God. A young Leonard Nimoy, naturally being curious, peaked. He saw the kohanim making a two-handed gesture and was fascinated by it. Years later, he used it — as a one-handed gesture — as the Vulcan gesture of greeting on Star Trek.

The decision to do so is more than Jewish trivia. It's highly significant.

In Judaism, the symbol is accompanied by the three-part priestly blessing:

May the Lord bless you and keep you;

May the Lord make His face shine on you and be gracious to you; May the Lord turn His face toward you and give you peace.

When Leonard Nimoy elected to use this as a symbol of alien greeting, Nimoy was invoking the biblical blessing and imparting to humanity not just a message of peace, but a message of comfort and spirituality. The symbol connotes blessing, guardianship, protection, kindness, peace, religion, spirituality, and Godliness. Wow!

In doing so, Leonard Nimoy, elevated the character. The Vulcan greeting resonates within us, particularly as Jews, because of its deep message:

Fellow humans, members of the family of Adam and Eve, we are not alone. And what's out there is not to be feared. For when you see this symbol, know that you are indeed blessed.

A GUIDE FOR THE PERPLEXED
DARA HORN

Our next book is A Guide for the Perplexed, by Dara Horn. A story that blends our fascination with technology and the tumultuous Middle East with the history of the Jews of Cairo. The story spans eras, raising questions of memory and empathy.

A close-up portrait of Michele Tredger, a woman with long dark hair and light-colored eyes, looking directly at the camera with a slight smile. The background is a soft, out-of-focus grey.

Join Beth Jacob Synagogue as we celebrate Rabbi Dan and Karen Selsberg's contributions to Jewish life in Hamilton

SUNDAY, JUNE 14, 2015

375 ABERDEEN AVENUE, HAMILTON

So many of us have benefitted from the wisdom, wit and compassion of Rabbi Dan and Karen Selsberg.
You may show your appreciation by making a donation to

The Rabbi Dan and Karen Selsberg Fund for CREATIVE JEWISH LIFE

This fund will honour their many contributions to Jewish life in Hamilton by providing financial support for ongoing creative initiatives in family programming at Beth Jacob Synagogue.

Dinner at 5:30 pm | Main Event at 7:30 pm
